

Ministers Discuss Cyprus Peace Plan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Greek and Turkish foreign ministers meet privately in Geneva today to discuss a Turkish peace plan for Cyprus.

The agreement by Greek Foreign Minister George Mavros and his Turkish counterpart Turgut Ersoy to conduct private talks was described by a British spokesman as "the only progress achieved so far" in tripartite talks designed to end the crisis on Cyprus.

Britain, Greece and Turkey are guarantors of Cypriot independence under the 1960 treaty that established the eastern Mediterranean island republic. Representatives of the three countries started peace negotiations Thursday. The United States is sitting in as an observer.

In New York, the United Nations Security Council scheduled a meeting today on charges by Cyprus of Turkish cease-fire violations. The session was postponed Friday to await the outcome of the Geneva meeting.

U.N. sources reported fresh fighting on Friday as Turks tried to expand their beachhead on the northern coast.

The Cyprus U.N. ambassador, Zenon Rossides, told the council of "the grave deterioration of the situation in Cyprus through the continued and flagrant violation of the cease-fire by Turkey."

Military experts and eyewitnesses said Turkey was landing fresh supplies and reinforcements on the northern coast and had doubled the invasion force of 6,000 that landed a week ago.

Turkey also controlled about twice the territory it held when a U.N.-sponsored cease-fire went into effect Monday.

Diplomatic pressure from Britain and the United States helped save the Geneva talks from collapsing Friday.

British Foreign Minister James Callaghan, assisted by the U.S. observer at the talks, Undersecretary of State William B. Buffum, persuaded Mavros to consider the Turkish plan.

Greek delegation sources called one part of the Turkish package acceptable and much of the rest "black-mail." But they said it provided a basis for further talks.

Turkish sources said their plan included these points:

—A cease-fire based on existing positions.

—A no man's land separating Turkish troops from both Greek Cypriot forces and U.N. peacekeeping units.

—An interim political settlement that would allow the Greek Cypriot majority and the Turkish Cypriot minority to administer their own affairs separately.

—A further conference within 10 days to consider longer term political and security questions.

The key to the plan was that the in-place ceasefire would take effect on the day the agreement is signed, enabling Turkish troops to continue to advance while the talks are held.

Greece wants an agreement that would put Turkish troops back to the lines of last Monday's ceasefire.

Cypriot President Glafcos Clerides accused Turkey of "massive land grabs" and threatened to resume the fighting unless alleged cease-fire violations stopped.

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim reported "heavy bombing and shelling" in some areas of northern Cyprus, and said "Turkish forces have moved sizable forces of tanks and troops" southward from Kyrenia toward Kythrea, site of Nicosia's main water supply.

Newsmen visited 1,753 Turkish Cypriots held prisoner by Greek Cypriots in a soccer stadium in the southern city of Limassol.

Greek Cypriot officials described them as all fighting men. But prisoners who talked to newsmen said only about 300 were soldiers and 100 others were policemen from Turkish communities.

Associated Press writer Frank N. Hawkins Jr. said the prisoners there and in Paphos and Larnaca could represent a major Greek Cypriot bargaining card in the Geneva negotiations.

CONFERS ON REMARKS—House Judiciary Committee Chairman Peter Rodino, left, confers with Rep. Edward Hutchinson, ranking minority member of the committee over remarks made by Rodino during the impeachment debate of President Nixon in Washington.

Committee Tries To Reach Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee makes another effort today to reach a vote on an article of impeachment accusing President Nixon with obstruction of justice in the Watergate cover-up.

After a 12-hour committee session Friday, Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said the committee will meet Sunday, too, if it appears possible it could wind up its proceedings in one more day.

Today's session, which begins at noon, again will be broadcast via national radio and television.

On the strength of a 27-11 test vote that defeated the first of what is expected to be a number of Republican amendments aimed at weakening the proposed article, it seems certain the committee will recommend Nixon's impeachment when it gets the opportunity.

A simple majority vote on any article of impeachment by the committee would send the matter to the House floor. A simple majority vote in the House then would forward the bill to the Senate, where a two-thirds vote is needed to remove the President from office.

The panel was stymied Friday by Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr., R-N.J., who said the article was too vague. He tried without success to delete one of its provisions charging Nixon with making false or misleading statements to federal investigators.

The defeat of Sandman's motion came after a full day of argument over whether articles of impeachment need spell out the charges being brought against Nixon.

The result appeared close to being a forecast of how a vote on the article itself might turn out. Rep. Henry P. Smith III, R-N.Y., who voted against Sandman's motion, said he also will vote against the article but was willing to leave it intact now because other Republicans are for it.

Five other Republicans voted with all 21 Democrats to defeat Sandman. Rep. Harold V. Froelich, R-Wis., another who voted to strike the provision, said he might end up voting for the article if it includes specific evidence.

Another significant vote to keep the article intact was cast by Rep. Walter Flowers of Alabama, the only Democrat regarded as a possible vote against impeachment.

Flowers said he, too, wants to see specific supporting data before casting his final vote.

"In the obstruction of justice there is a dead skunk," he said. "You can smell it, but you've got to find it."

There are eight other separate provisions in the article and Sandman said either he or some other Republican opponent of impeachment will offer separate motions to strike them. If the full time allowable on each one were used, it would take another 24 hours to get to a vote on the article.

Rodino has powers as chairman to limit debate on the motions.

Rodino clearly was dismayed by the spectacle the committee was creating on television after two days of exemplary behavior in its opening round of impeachment debate. He took Sandman and his Republican allies to task.

"Indulging in a parliamentary maneuver to delay a decision in this very important matter only serves to tell the people we are afraid to meet the issue," Rodino said.

Reps. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., and David W. Dennis, R-Ind., joined Sandman in arguing for more detail in the impeachment article. They said the committee was being unfair to Nixon by not specifying the charges more clearly.

The article states that after the break-in of the Democratic headquarters in the Watergate office building June 17, 1972, Nixon, adopted and directed a policy of delay and obstruction of investigation in order to conceal and protect those responsible.

It lists nine separate actions taken to implement the alleged policy.

Wiggins, Dennis and Sandman insisted the names, dates and places involved in all the separate actions should be included in the article, but the Democrats, backed by Special Counsel John Doar and Associate Counsel Albert Jenner, said the proper method is to supply the details in a separate bill of particulars.

Rodino said the factual data supporting the articles would be included in a committee report accompanying any articles it sends to the House floor.

Rep. Paul S. Sarbanes, D-Md., sponsor of the article, said it did not include itemized events because it deals with a course of conduct spread over many months.

Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., accused the supporters of Sandman's argument of raising "a phony issue." Rep. Barbara Jordan, D-Tex., said they were presenting phantom arguments.

U.S. To Establish Relations With East Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and East Germany are expected to establish diplomatic relations early next week, State Department officials said Friday.

Formal signing ceremonies will be held in Washington probably on Monday or Tuesday, the officials said. At the same time, the Nixon administration is expected to announce its nominee for the post of U.S. ambassador to the European Communist nation.

U.S. sources said the most likely candidate for the post is John Sherman Cooper, a former Republican senator from Kentucky.

U.S. and East German representatives have been negotiating the diplomatic relations question off and on for several months, with the most serious issues involving claims by the United States against the East Germans.

State Department officials said the claims have not been resolved but the Rep. James R. Mann, D-S.C., charged that the whole issue had been raised in the manner of an effort to influence the American public through television.

"He will be going to trial, if he goes, not only knowing what the charges are, but knowing every iota, every word of the evidence, with every i dotted and every t crossed," Mann said.

Nixon's counsel, James D. St. Clair, attended all committee sessions when evidence was produced and has been presented with copies of everything the members have received.

In an effort to meet the demand of Flowers and Froelich for more information, however, Rodino is having the staff prepare a brief summary of factual information supporting the proposed article. The main evidence is contained in the 38 volumes of material compiled during the long inquiry.

Although the adoption of any article will mean the committee has recommended Nixon's impeachment, at least two more are to be offered after the obstruction of justice article.

One will charge Nixon with violating his oath of office and his constitutional duty to see that the laws are faithfully executed. It will enumerate several charges, including interference with the Internal Revenue Service and creation of the special investigating unit that broke into the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

The other, to be offered by Rep. Robert McCloy, R-Ill., will charge Nixon with contempt of Congress for refusing to comply with committee subpoenas for White House tapes.

Economic Talk Reaction Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon's call for budget austerity and less consumer spending as a means of fighting inflation has drawn guarded praise from conservative economists and condemnation from Nixon's traditional opponents.

In his nationally televised address to Los Angeles businessmen Thursday night, Nixon said he is determined to cut the federal budget by $5 billion to a level of $300 billion for fiscal 1975.

He also called on all segments of the nation, particularly consumers, to spend less and save more. The President recommended that each wage-earner save 15 cents from each $10 normally spent.

He declared a freeze on hiring of federal employees with the hope of reducing the federal work force by 40,000 through attrition.

Walter Heller, a former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, commented, "A $5 billion budget cut is next to impossible to attain and is only a token anyway."

"And we know who the budget cut will probably hurt — not the defense community, but low income groups."

On the other hand, Dr. Raymond Saulnier, a former Economic Council chairman under President Eisenhower, had high praise for the Nixon address.

"It was a good speech. If we'd heard it six years ago, and stuck to the policies contained in it, we'd have few of the problems we have now," he said.

"You didn't hear a word in the address about the full-employment deficit budget concept. That concept is a snare and an illusion, and I'm glad to see it's been abandoned."

Saulnier agreed with Nixon that responsibility for trimming inflation lies with consumers, businesses and government, all of whom must cut their spending plans.

One of Nixon's own economists, however, expressed little enthusiasm for the suggestion that consumers cut their spending.

According to Sydney L. Jones, deputy to Kenneth Rush, Nixon's economic coordinator, consumers are now saving 75 cents out of every $10 in their paychecks. He said the increase in savings could hurt retail sales.

"We do not want a consumer boycott," Jones told newsmen Friday. "I would like to see consumers take a more discreet approach rather than not buying at all."

Dr. Milton Friedman of the University of Chicago, who has counseled conservatives such as Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, also said consumer spending curbs are not the answer to inflation.

"I do not believe consumer behavior is to blame. How much people spend should be of their own choice," he said.

Friedman says he believes taxes ought to come down, accompanied by as much budget-cutting as possible. He said he welcomed in Nixon's speech the apparent desire to move toward more budgetary austerity.

Friedman added, "I especially welcomed the news Nixon will avoid wage-price controls. I hope this time he sticks to it."

But Harvard economist John K. Galbraith said he feels the re-institution of wage-price controls is exactly what the economy needs to beat inflation. He also recommended increased taxation on those in upper income brackets.

"We've handled inflation under such more trying conditions, but the Nixon address offered no remedy," Galbraith said.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, criticized Nixon's call to consumers to buy less and save more.

Consumers are already buying less because they just can't afford today's prices, especially since their income — but not that of the corporations — was stringently controlled for 30 months," Meany said.

Stickers Slated For License Tags

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Bureau of Motor Vehicles will issue validation stickers to be placed on current license plates instead of new 1975 licenses, it was announced Friday.

Acting Highway Safety Director Frederick A. Vierow said the unavailability of steel and inflation have caused the validation stickers to be used, a year before planned.

But the change will not affect the program allowing six-letter plates to be reserved, Vierow said.

He said the use of validation stickers will save the state almost $4 million.

Among the claims is the American request for possession of the former U.S. embassy in East Berlin. The United States occupied the building until the outbreak of World War II.

Ford Gives Nixon Support

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford continued his staunch defense on behalf of President Nixon as the House Judiciary Committee holds its impeachment proceedings against the chief executive.

During the first two days of a three-day trip through the Midwest, Ford has proclaimed Nixon's innocence in speeches and news conferences.

In a fund-raising dinner for an Illinois State Republican senatorial candidate Friday night, Ford said: "I believe with the deepest convictions that the President of the United States is innocent of any impeachable offense."

"I hope and trust that the good judgement of Congress will, in the process that is being carried out, vindicate him. I know he is innocent."

"I know that the American people, deep in their hearts, know that a man who has done so much for peace, who has done so much for the country as a whole, deserves better than the treatment he is getting at the present time," said Ford.

Dry Weather Lawn Care Hints Offered

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

Bluegrass growing in good soil and cut at the proper height (2 to 2½ inches) is not likely to die during dry weather. Unwatered lawns may turn brown, but they will recover when rains come. However, if you want a green lawn during dry summers, you'll have to water it.

Watering can be done any time the lawn needs it, whether the sun is shining or not. Wet the soil to a depth of 6 to 8 inches. This may require leaving the sprinkler in one place for several hours. Of course, the type soil will determine how long it will take to wet the top 6 inches. Basement clays take much longer to wet than a sandy loam soil.

Do not apply water faster than the soil will absorb it. Water that runs down the gutter does not help your lawn. Neither does sprinkling with hose in hand. This may cool you, but it does little for the lawn. In fact, hand sprinkling may do more harm than good.

During rainless periods, you should expect to water the lawn every week to 10 days.

If you are following a scheduled fertilization program, July 15 to August 10 is the time for the second application. The third and final application should be applied September 1 to 15.

Do not apply more than 2 pounds nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn area per application. To determine how much of a complete fertilizer such as 20-10-10 that you need to get 2 pounds per 1,000 square feet, divide the per cent nitrogen (the first number in the 20-10-10) into the amount of nitrogen you want per 1,000 square feet — in this example, 2 pounds. This would give you 10 pounds of a 20-10-10 per 1,000 square feet. For a 10-5-5 fertilizer, 20 pounds per 1,000.

Spread the fertilizer evenly when the grass is dry. If it doesn't rain, water the fertilizer into the soil.

Most lawn grasses are Kentucky bluegrass and should be cut 2 to 2½ inches high. Cutting high does not mean to let the grass get tall before you cut it. Cut often enough so that not more than one inch of grass blade is removed at a cutting.

Sharpen rotary type mower blades often. A dull blade tears the grass leaves and may cause a deterioration of turf quality. A rotary blade should be sharpened every 3 or 4 mowings, depending on the size of your lawn. Larger lawns means more frequent sharpening.

Tomato Problems Mount

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

The spring weather fluctuation could very well have you wondering what may happen to your tomatoes.

Common fruit problems include misshapen or scarred fruit, rotting of the blossom end, and rotting where the fruit touches the soil.

Misshapen or scarred fruit can be caused by cool weather (temperatures in the low 50's) such as occurred early in June, herbicide damage, or virus infection.

Blossom-end rot results when plants are exposed to widely fluctuating soil moisture conditions. It is recommended that gardeners water their plants regularly and thoroughly during dry spells. Straw or other mulches will be helpful in conserving moisture and preventing blossom-end rot and will minimize fruit loss due to soil rot.

There is one change in tomato plant appearance that you don't have to worry about. It's called physiological leaf curl and causes leaves to roll up. This is often an indication of a well fertilized, vigorous plant. Leaf curl should not be confused with wilting due to disease or lack of moisture.

Western Rootworm In Ohio

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Western corn rootworm is present in all Michigan counties bordering Ohio on the North and in two Indian counties bordering Ohio on the Northwest, says B. D. Blair, Extension Entomologist at The Ohio State University.

There is a strong possibility western corn rootworm is present in northwestern Ohio, the specialist reveals. Therefore, growers are urged to make field checks throughout the month of August to determine if the pest is present.

"Our primary problem at the present is northern corn rootworm," Blair says. "But, because the insecticides aldrin, heptachlor, and chlordane, which are used against northern corn rootworm, are not effective against western corn rootworm, farmers need to know the difference," Blair explains.

"There's no way we can look at western and northern rootworm eggs and tell the difference. Rootworm eggs hatch about June 1, so adults should be present during August," he says.

"Check the silks on corn ears for adults. The western corn rootworm adult is larger than the northern and has three dark stripes down its back. If adults are found, take them to the county agent who will get them identified at the laboratory in Columbus.

"Western corn rootworm is expected to cause economic damage in Ohio in 2-3 years. That's why it is important to determine its presence as early as possible," Blair explains.

Growers planting corn continuously in the same fields particularly are urged to check for western corn rootworms, since the pest should be present in these fields. Roughly, one-half of Ohio's 3 million acres of corn is continuous, he says.

Ohio Farmers Involved In 17,029 Accidents

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Last year Ohio farm people were involved in 17,029 accidents that costs $5,592,000.

One-third of these accidents resulted from falls, says W. E. Stuckey, Extension Leader, Safety, The Ohio State University.

To avoid being listed as one of the 1974 accident casualties, why not heed the following precautions:

Watch your step. Survey your path to spot slipping or tripping hazards.

Wear shoes and boots with slip-resistant soles and heels. Clean them off before climbing, mounting farm equipment, or walking on hard, smooth surfaces.

Keep walking surfaces free of slick substances such as manure, loose grain, small gravels, etc.

Never permit children to ride on farm equipment. Establish the "no riders" rule. No one should be on farm equipment other than those necessary for operation or instructional purposes.

Use hand holds or rails when climbing off and on machinery. Use handrails on stairs.

Inspect ladders before each use. Repair or replace if unstable or faulty. Place ladder on firm footing. Set ladder base out one foot for each four feet up. Don't overreach, and stay off tall ladders on gusty days.

Keep your place clean and free of unnecessary slipping, tripping hazards.

Keep buildings maintained. Repair broken flooring, steps, etc. Every stairway should have handrails.

Have storage place for everything and put things away when finished. Good housekeeping is a must to prevent falls.

Don't block your view when carrying large items.

Look for hidden hazards when walking in weeds, tall grass, or poorly lighted areas.

Provide plenty of light so you can see where you are going.

Fatigue, illness, excessive alcohol, worry, poor vision, anger, medications which make you drowsy, and many others make you less alert.

Take time to be safe.

National ASCS Meeting Is Planned

Ohio's top officials in the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) have been called to a national meeting to be held in Washington, D. C. from August 6 through 8, Walton W. Spangler, County Executive Director of ASCS reported.

Those who will attend include State Executive Director Harle H. Hicks, who is chief administrative officer; State ASCS Committee Chairman William C. Bauer of Urbana, and Committee Members Reuben R. Jones of Circleville, and Earl W. Kauser of Defiance.

State committee members are farmers who comprise a primary leadership unit in the agency's field organization. State committeemen are appointed by the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture. State executive directors are appointed by the state committee.

Speakers will include top officials of the USDA, other federal leaders and non-federal experts, who will discuss farm programs, the world food situation, consumer attitudes, an interchange of information about crop conditions, markets, conservation, farm production costs and related subjects.

Auditor Candidate Speaks Here

Thomas E. Ferguson, Democratic candidate for State Auditor, said today that Pickaway countians received back over twice as much in state funds as they paid in state income taxes in 1973.

Ferguson said income taxes paid by local taxpayers amounted to $1.135 million in calendar 1973, while the state sent back to Pickaway County last year $1,906 million for schools, $365,206 in property tax rollback reimbursements, $152,878 in local government fund money and $62,602 in homestead exemption reimbursements.

"The state income tax has enabled the state to substantially increase its financial assistance to the counties, schools and municipalities, as the figures I just cited demonstrate," Ferguson said.

The deputy auditor spoke at a "get acquainted with Tom Ferguson" breakfast here at the Pickaway Arms. It was part of his statewide drive to get to meet as many Ohioans as possible in these early months of the campaign.

Ferguson also told his guests that "Democrats in Ohio have the best chance ever this year to win control of all Statehouse offices as well as elect majorities in both houses of the Ohio Legislature."

"Our only concern should be not to become overconfident," he added. All statewide candidates should pull together and work closely with state and local parties.

The 45-year-old Ferguson, who has been Deputy Auditor since July, 1973, said he was campaigning on the record established by his father, Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, "these past three and one half years."

He pointed out that since January, 1971 the Auditor's office has conducted over 8,000 regular audits and 32 special investigations and made findings for recovery totaling $4.3 million of taxpayers dollars that had been improperly expended at the state, county, township, village and school levels.

"I'm proud of that record," the younger Ferguson concluded.

Comments Sought By USDA

Comments on proposed determinations for 1975 programs for feed grain and soybeans are being solicited by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, according to Walton W. Spangler, executive director for the Pickaway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

He explained Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz proposes to make determinations and issue regulations relative to the:

— 1975 feed grain program. (Decisions will include the national allotment, national loan level for corn, sorghum, barley, oats and rye, whether there should be a required and/or voluntary set-aside and if so, the extent of the set-aside and the amount of payment to participants. Also should feed grain loans continue to be made with specified maturity dates or for periods of equal length as they are for cotton.)

— Soybean loan and purchase program.

— Commodity Credit Corporation sales policy for wheat, corn grain sorghum, barley, oats, rye, and soybeans.

— Other related provisions necessary to carry out the foregoing programs.

Additional details concerning these matters were to be published in the Federal Register July 17, 1974. Comments relative to the 1975 grain program should be sent to the Grain Division, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250.

All written submissions received not later than August 15, 1974 will be given consideration prior to making the determinations. The submissions will be available for public inspection at the Office of the Division Directors in Agriculture Department's South Building (Grain, Room 5741).

COOKING IS FUN

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

Company Dinner

Jackie Katz's beef curry, rice, poppadums, salad bowl, fruit compote, beverage.

Jackie Katz's Beef Curry

As it's made in England.
1 cup water
Beef bouillon cube
2 bay leaves
4 whole cloves
1 clove garlic, peeled and halved
4 whole small dried hot red peppers
2 to 4 tablespoons oil
2 medium onions coarsely chopped (1 cup)
2 pounds stewing beef, about 1-inch thick and cut into about 1½-inch chunks
2 tablespoons curry powder
1 tablespoon cider vinegar
6 ounce can tomatoes, undrained
Bring to a boil the water, bouillon cube, bay leaves, cloves, garlic and peppers; simmer for 15 minutes; strain, reserving broth. In a large skillet in 2 tablespoons of the oil, brown the onion lightly; with a slotted spoon transfer to a large saucepot. In the skillet, adding more oil as necessary, brown the meat; with a slotted spoon transfer to saucepot. Add the curry powder to the skillet and, stirring often, cook gently, for 5 minutes; add to saucepot with reserve broth, vinegar and tomatoes. Bring to a boil, cover and simmer until meat is tender — about 2 hours. There will be just enough extremely hot sauce for the meat. Serve with plain yogurt (for cooling purposes); chopped cucumber; chopped apple mixed with plumped raisins and lemon juice; finely chopped tomatoes and onion mixed with lemon juice, salt and pepper; flaked coconut; mango chutney. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Soup-Salad Supper

Split pea soup, iceberg salad, bread tray, brownies, beverage.
Iceberg Salad
4 crosswise slices iceberg lettuce
1-3rd cup mayonnaise blended with 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
4 hard-cooked eggs, sliced Scallion Dressing, see below
½ cup chopped ripe olives
Pimento strips
Arrange lettuce slices on 4 salad plates; spread with mayonnaise; top with egg slices. Drizzle with Scallion Dressing — about 2 tablespoons for each salad. Center with mounds of olives and garnish with pimento. Makes 4 servings.
Scallion Dressing: In a small jar shake together ¼ cup corn oil, 3 tablespoons cider vinegar, 1 teaspoon seasoned salt, ¼ teaspoon each dillweed and sugar, pepper to taste and ¼ cup thinly sliced scallion; shake well again just before using.

Thunderstorms rumbled over widely scattered areas of the nation today, including parts of the Rockies, northern Great Lakes and the Atlantic and Gulf coast states.

Almost an inch of hail peppered areas near Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. Over 1.5 inches of rain fell at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Fogs settled over the Appalachians, reducing visibility to less than a mile.

Strong winds up to 60 miles per hour and heavy blowing dust buffeted areas between Phoenix and Tucson, Ariz., Friday night. Earlier Friday, a tornado was sighted near Vero Beach, Fla., and hail pounded Iron River, Mich.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 51 at Hibbing, Minn., to 100 at Blythe, Calif.

Injunction Halts Welfare Raises

TROY, Ohio (AP)—An injunction, issued at the request of the state attorney general, has put a temporary halt on payment of a wage increase to Miami County welfare department employees that county commissioners approved in March.

The injunction will remain in effect until the Miami County Common Pleas Court resolves a state suit filed against the commissioners, county auditor and welfare director, said Judge William Kessler.

Wages for all county employees, including welfare workers, were increased seven per cent by the commissioners. Atty. Gen. William J. Brown contends that salaries for all state workers, including county welfare employees, must be determined by the General Assembly.

A spokesman said the 24 local welfare workers may have to return an estimated $4,200 if the case is decided in favor of the state.

Giants Edge Cincinnati, 5-4

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — San Francisco Giants new Manager Wes Westrum said he was "tickled to death" to get out of Cincinnati Friday night after salvaging one of a three-game series with the Reds.

The Giants held on to a 5-4 victory after dropping a double header Thursday night 14-13 and 5-0. The Giants are now 12-13 with Westrum at the helm.

Westrum had high praise for winning pitcher Joe Barr, who was taken out in the sixth inning with an injury and Elias Sosa, who picked up the save allowing no runs in four innings.

Barr was hit in the shoulder by a Tony Perez line drive in the second inning "and showed some great guts until it started stiffening up on him," said Westrum.

"He wanted to go on but I took him out. There's no sense in taking a chance with a valuable player like Barr."

"I didn't think we could hang on with only five runs against a strong hitting club like Cincinnati—any one of them can kill you," said Westrum. "Sosa is my long man. He was doing so good I just let him in there. Our guys did a great job of coming back after last night."

The Giants took the measure of Reds leading hurler Don Gullett, 12-7, who had won his seven previous outings. "He was just wild," said a grim

Reds Manager George "Sparky" Anderson. "That's all you can say."

The Giants tagged Gullett for five runs in the third inning sending 10 batters to the plate in a rally opened by Barr's single to center. Steve Orteveros cracked a bases-loaded single to center for two runs. Gullett gave up his third walk of the inning to Gary Matthews loading the bases. Chris Arnold and Ken Miller then hit run-scoring singles to chase Gullett.

Anderson then inserted Dick Baney who held the Giants for three and a third innings dropping his earned run average 100 points to 4.73 before being lifted for a pinch hitter.

"Baney did okay," said Anderson.

Cincinnati scored one run each in the second and third innings on a Dave Concepcion double and a sacrifice fly by Johnny Bench.

The Reds got two more in the fifth inning when Tony Perez clouted his 18th home run after Bench doubled.

Utility infielder Bruce Miller, with a dazzling display of defense, shut off any Reds threat possibility in the ninth inning beginning with a falling catch of Cesar Geronimo's foul fly into the San Francisco dugout.

Pete Rose then tried to bunt his way on but Miller threw him out in a stumbling pounce motion.

"He just tempted me," said Rose, "because he plays so far off the third base line." Morgan, who went hitless, popped out to Chris Speier at short to end the game.

The Reds host San Diego today and the Giants meet the Astros at Houston.

The Reds remained 5½ games behind National League West leader Los Angeles which also lost.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A Dayton businessman has offered to give $10,000 to help a former Air Force sergeant in Massachusetts who is losing a fight with cancer and the military.

The benefactor, who asked to remain anonymous, presented a check for $3,000 Friday to a Dayton newspaper after reading about the plight of John A. Ellis. And he said he would give the remaining $7,000 "once the tax situation is worked out."

Orioles Turn Back Indians, 9-5

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

If you're in Cleveland and in a tight spot—or if you're Reggie Cleveland and in a tight spot—what do you throw? If you're Cleveland's Gaylord Perry, you throw a fastball. If you're Boston's Reggie Cleveland, you try a curve.

And if you're either one, you get burned.

Perry tried to sneak a fast one past Baltimore's Paul Blair in the ninth inning Friday night and Blair snuck it into the left field seats for a game-tying two-run homer.

Two innings later he hit a sacrifice fly in a four-run burst that carried the Orioles to an 11-inning 9-5 triumph over the Indians and shackled Perry with his third straight loss.

Cleveland...Reggie, that is...was not hitting the Detroit Tigers for 6 2-3 innings. Then he tried to fool Jim Nettles with a curve. The ball ended up on the warning track in center field, a solid double.

Four innings later, Jim Northrup's single, only the third hit off Cleveland, gave the Tigers an 11-inning 1-0 victory.

In Friday night's other games, New York beat Milwaukee 5-1, Texas topped Chicago 10-6, Oakland defeated Minnesota 5-3 and Kansas City turned back California 3-2.

Al Chandler Swells Ranks Of Bengals

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Al Chandler, second round draft choice of the Cincinnati Bengals last year, checked into training camp Friday.

Chandler, a 6-2, 233-pound tight end, became the 22nd Bengal veteran to report. Cincinnati leads the National Football League with returning vets who are crossing the NFL Players Association strike lines, and now has 36 players here.

Rumors drifted into camp from Cincinnati that a woman identifying herself as Shirley Cox said she will bring in about 20 women to picket the veterans' line.

"This is ridiculous, what is happening," she said. "To hell with the other unions. It's about time we do something about it."

Other reports indicate about five other players will be reporting to camp over the weekend to prepare for the pre-season opener with the Miami Dolphins a week from today at Riverfront Stadium.

The Bengals also announced that some tickets for the game had become available from fans who had returned them, since the game promises mainly to be played by rookies.

Toledo Mud Hens Top Red Sox

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Neither Larry Christenson nor Tom Timmerman had a winning record entering a doubleheader Friday night with Pawtucket, but the Toledo hurlers didn't pitch like losers.

They held the Red Sox to a total of two runs in the twinbill, and Toledo swept to 10-2 and 1-0 victories in International League baseball.

Other games Friday night were Rochester's 3-2 triumph over Syracuse and Memphis' 7-5 decision over Charleston.

Roman Gabriel Ends Football Walkout

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Quarterback Roman Gabriel says he crossed the National Football League Players Association picket line because he doesn't like the freedom issue which has kept players on strike.

"There are two ways to bargain, you can go in with a bunch of stuff and see what you can get. Or you can go in with what is basic. And sometimes you get more when you stick with what is basic," Gabriel said.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FOR SUNDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): What is expedient may not be best for all concerned, so be careful of the route you select. Take nothing for granted.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Your innate artistry and gift for projecting the unusual that has intrinsic value stand out as winners here. Others can profit by your exceptional know-how.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Ease up if week was busy. Catch your breath and take a good look where you are headed. Should you change your objectives? Or your tactics? A time for thought.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Some of the things you have been able to manage before may be harder to control now. But, with an

Hank Aaron Messes Up Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — Atlanta Journal sports writer Frank Hyland said home run king Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves ended a spirited discussion with him by smashing a small carton of strawberries into his face Friday night.

Aaron declined comment on the matter.

Hyland said the incident occurred in the Braves' locker room while the team waited out a rain delay of a scheduled National League baseball game with the San Diego Padres. The game was rained out.

Aaron apparently was disturbed about one of Hyland's articles in which he criticized Aaron for at first saying he did not want to be the manager of the Braves and then saying on national television during the All-Star game in Pittsburgh that he would take the job. Clyde King was named the news Braves' manager the following day.

"I got a message in the locker room that Hank wanted to see me," Hyland said later, red stains visible on his shirt. "So I went to his locker."

"He told me he had never doubled-talked anyone, and I told him that he had double-talked the writers in Pittsburgh at the All-Star game."

Hyland claimed Aaron made a comment to the effect that he never wanted to see the writer again, and smashed the strawberries into his face.

extra bit of determination, you can "make it."

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Solar influences now stimulate your imagination, give you ideas for making the most of presently latent possibilities for future gains.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): There are tendencies now toward impulsiveness and unnecessary bickering. Don't YOU yield to such inclinations. Control emotionalism. Make thoughtful decisions.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You may now be the recipient of some "inside information" regarding a business deal. Act on Monday.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): This could be a day of great personal achievement. Make plans for attaining cherished objectives, but don't expect the unreasonable.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23): Personal relationships highly congenial. In fact, your career status may be boosted through an influential person.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20): Leave the status quo in all phases of your life unless you are forced to make changes because of unexpected developments. But, even then, act reservedly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A good day for considering future projects; also for developing helpful contracts. Just one admonition, however: Don't let emotions influence your decisions.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Especially favored under propitious influences: research, scientific experiments, outdoor pursuits and maritime interests.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine intellect, unusual versatility and ambitions which, unless careful, can drive you almost to ruthlessness at times. You love pomp, ceremony and power, and you are never happy unless in the limelight. You have a great love of art in all its forms; may successfully take up one or the other either as a vocation or an avocation. But, if you incline toward business as a career, will ultimately reach the top echelons of management and organization, since your acumen in this field is beyond par. Your flair for the dramatic makes you an outstanding candidate for the stage, literature, politics and statesmanship. Birthdate of Mrs. Aristotle (Jacqueline Kennedy) Onassis, widow of U.S. President.

By JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — This September, Boston's WCVB-TV and five other New England stations are inaugurating their own mini-network with WCVB's live "Good Morning" show and giving it a five-day-a-week, 52-week tryout.

The network, which links the Boston station to one outlet in Rhode Island, three in Maine and one in Vermont, won't exactly alarm its big brothers. But it isn't intended to do that, anyway.

It's only a means of offering New England housewives a live, regional alternative to whatever syndicated or network shows or reruns they now get from 9 to 10:30 a.m., says Robert Bennett, WCVB's general manager.

If the show proves a hit on the mini-network, he adds, WCVB might subsequently try out a regional sports program for the early evening hours and occasional regional news specials after that.

Bennett, whose station is an ABC affiliate, says the morning show, costing nearly $7,000 a week, originally was developed to both provide live local programming and fill a mid-morning time hole caused by the lack of network programming at that period from ABC.

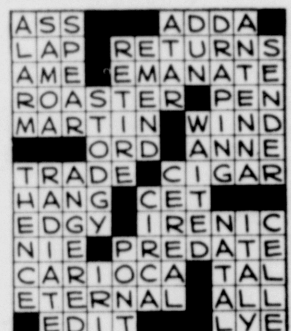

The reason he proposed the six-station hookup, he says, "is really because we've had so much success so quickly work shows or reruns they now get from 9 to 10:30 a.m., says Robert Bennett, WCVB's general manager."

Juvenile Court Hears Four Traffic Cases

Cases coming before Acting Juvenile Court Judge William Ammer this past week included four youths charged with traffic offenses and one charged with delinquency. Judge Ammer, regular Common Pleas Court Judge, was acting in the absence of Guy G. Cline in the Juvenile Court.

A case against a 15-year-old Circleville girl for running away from home was dismissed by agreement of the assistant county prosecutor, James R. Kingsley.

Kingsley was present in court for prosecution of other cases on the week's disposition docket including a violation of probation charge against a 15-year-old Circleville boy.

The boy also appeared on a charge filed by the Circleville Police Department for being out past the curfew. He was placed on probation until Dec. 31 of this year and ordered to pay the court costs.

One speed case was transferred to Ross County and another to Licking County, the home counties of the defendants.

Robin A. Steeley, 16, 2125 Chippewa Drive, was fined $25 for reckless operation of a motor vehicle. Arrested by Sheriff's Deputy Billy Huffman, Steeley was also ordered to attend traffic school and had his license suspended two months. The court suspended the fine and ordered him to pay the court costs.

A six-month license suspension was given to Joseph Wayne Hawley, 15, 212 Third Ave., for driving without a valid operator's license. The court suspended a $50 fine, ordered Hawley to attend traffic school and ordered his license suspended six months after it is received.

Sixteen-year-old Steve L. Amann, Route 1, Stoutsville, appeared before the court on a charge of excessive noise. The court suspended a $10 fine and ordered him to pay the court costs and to attend traffic school.

Judy Anne Strawser, 17, 323 E. High St., was cited into court for reckless operation after an accident. A $25 fine was suspended and Miss Strawser was ordered to attend traffic school and to pay the court costs. The court also suspended her license for two months.

Pelletier Services Continue At EC

Evangelistic services conducted by the Rev. David Pelletier of Black Mountain, N. C., will be at Emmett Chapel United Methodist Church 7:30 p.m. tonight, 10:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

David Pelletier Jr. will share his miracle of sight with the congregation. In July of 1968 David Jr. suffered a severe injury to his left eye. He was hospitalized over a month while specialists tried to save the eye. However, the complete eyeball with the optic nerve was removed in August of 1968.

Three years later in July of 1971 David Jr. regained light perception in his sightless left eye. Since then his vision in his "plastic eye" has improved to the point he can even read fine print.

Several eye surgeons and doctors have verified and certified this miracle.

Carroll Hurt In Fairfield Hit-Run Wreck

Trent J. Carroll, 17-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Ray Carroll, 939 Circle Drive, is being treated in Children's Hospital, Columbus, for injuries suffered when his motorcycle collided with a car in Fairfield County.

Carroll was driving his motorcycle west on Route 188 at 5:12 p.m., according to the report, and was approaching the intersection of the Amanda Northern Rd.

The hit-skip car pulled from the side road into the path of the motorcycle, causing the collision, and then left in an undetermined direction of travel.

The vehicle is suspected to be a dark blue 1963-1966 Ford Fairlane or Falcon with slight damage to the right front end.

Carroll was taken to Berger Hospital by the Bloom Twp. squad and then transferred to the Columbus hospital.

Stamp, Medal Set Available

The American Revolution Bicentennial Administration is offering for sale to the general public the 1974 stamp and medal sets. The set is made available through the cooperation of the United States Mint and the United States Postal Service and is the third in a series of official Philatelic-Numismatic Combination packages.

This official stamp and medal set will be available only during the month of July at a cost of $5 and includes the 1974 Bicentennial commemorative medal issued under the authority given by the Congress of the United States.

Featuring the bust of John Adams, the bronze medal was designed by Robert A. Weinman, president of the National Sculpture Society. Adams, considered one of the most influential participants of the revolution, was the second President and a delegate to the First and Second Continental Congresses.

The reverse side of the medal depicts the First Continental Congress with the slogan "For the recovery of our just rights."

Four ten-cent commemorative stamps are affixed to the first day cover and represent the buildings that housed the Continental Congresses.

Net revenue derived from the sale of the package to go toward Bicentennial projects throughout the 50 states and American possessions.

Ex-Ambassador To France Dies

NORWALK, Conn. (AP) — Arthur K. Watson, former ambassador to France and a leader in making the IBM empire a giant of international trade, died Friday in Norwalk Hospital. He was 55.

Watson had been in the hospital since being injured in a fall July 18 at his New Canaan, Conn., home.

In 1970, Watson left the corporation and accepted President Nixon's appointment as ambassador to France. He held the post for two years.

His major role within IBM had been with the subsidiary IBM World Trade Corporation since 1949. He was a director of the parent IBM Corporation and member of the executive committee of the board.

His father was Thomas J. Watson Sr., who built the company from a small upstate New York firm.

In the last 40 years — about half the time it takes to grow a mature spruce tree — nearly 10 million acres of Ontario forest has been destroyed by fires.
